your school's personnel

Every day at Gettysburg High School someone does something or says something that will help you, the student, to learn and to grow mentally, physically, and morally in the right direction. Among these people are those on the administrative staff and your teachers who every day help you along the road to adulthood.

Some of you who read this will have received your diploma indicating that you have met state and local requirements for graduation from this high school. Let us hope sincerely that you do not believe that you have learned all that is necessary to know to live a satisfactory and successful life in future years. We must continue to study and learn each day we live. Adults do this in one way or another to hold their jobs, to secure better positions, and to experience the personal satisfaction of learning new and worthwhile things. I congratulate you upon reaching this important point in your educational life and I hope you will continue to learn constructively in school or out of school.

H. EDGAR RIEGLE
Superintendent of Gettysburg Schools

Behind the Scenes: These Men Tackle

As superintendent of the Gettysburg Joint School System, Mr. Riegler is doubtless a man with responsibilities. He carries out the policies and decisions of the School Board, always having in mind what is best for the schools. One of his many duties is the selection and hiring of teachers for the Gettysburg Schools. Another of Mr. Riegler's duties, although he says it is a pleasure, is shaking hands with graduating seniors as he hands them the diploma with the other hand. This process confuses most seniors and also wears out Mr. Riegler's hand.

Mrs. Mabel Folkenroth, secretary to the Superintendent, checks over financial ledger.

You the student have important decisions to make. You must decide whether or not the present ways of the world are to be tolerated or rejected. The tools which you forged here, especially those of thinking and reasoning, should give you formidable weapons and make it easier for you to make those decisions.

There is one other tool which has not been fully forged here, however, for this tool comes from the heart. "Courage" is the name of this tool—courage to stand up for what is right and vehemently reject what is wrong.

front offices

Those of you who have graduated from Gettysburg High School must continue to foster the desire to improve yourself intellectually, to assume responsibility for acceptable behavior and to conduct yourself with dignity.

In addition I would suggest that you do not alibi for your short comings, but put forth your best effort to correct them.

May you so continue your education and work that you as a student and citizen will be a credit to yourself, your family, your school, and your community.

PAUL R. MEHRING
Assistant Principal

John Holoka indicates to Mr. Mehring that he DID pay his bills at the cafeteria.

Secretary, Mrs. Lucille Sanders, takes dictation from her boss, Mr. Mehring.

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

Miss Louise Ramer checks a list of those students taking the Merit Scholarship tests.

Mr. Donald Tiziani reads over one student's school record.

the student supplements his education

Rick Schubart receives his test results from Mr. Tiziani.

The guidance office is a lively place. Seniors flock in the door asking, "Miss Ramer, will you help me fill out an application?" or "Mr. Tiziani, may I drop math?" The counselors help the underclassmen select what course to sign for, what electives to take, and the vocation suited for the student. Also they gladly arrange for scholarship tests to be taken and proctor many such tests. A guidance teacher is employed this year for the first time to teach courses in human relations and guidance in the ninth grade.

LIBRARIANS

Miss Wentz checks student file cards for over-due books.

Miss Quigley checks out books at the main desk.

through guidance and library research

7,596-7,597-7,598-7,599-7,600!!! In the middle of a large pile of books in the library, Misses Mary Quigley and Susan Wentz mop their brows and sigh in relief. The last book has been accounted for and the librarians can close up shop for the year.

From September to May the library has been a place of much activity with students doing reference work, selecting books, and reading magazines. With aid from the librarians, pupils are able to find anything from Masterplots to the latest copy of "Reader's Digest."

Mrs. Donna Hertz files for librarians and guidance counselors.

BUSINESS OFFICE

Mr. Reinhart has charge of the business and financial end of management of the Gettysburg Joint School System besides being secretary of the Joint Board. He is assisted by secretaries Miss Donna Redding and Miss Pat Timlin, both Gettysburg High School alumnae. His many duties include management of the board's general fund, attention to the payroll, bills, and financial reports, and supervision of both maintenance of school buildings and cafeteria operations. The business manager's department thus makes possible efficient and smooth-running educational facilities.

Mr. Kenneth G. Reinhart reads over one of the many reports which come into his office.

Secretaries Miss Redding and Miss Timlin prepare the bi-monthly payroll.

NURSE

Good heavens! . . . 1 broken leg, 2 cases of measles, and 23 cases of type-B flu this month!

Few students fully appreciate the essential work of our school nurse, Miss Miller. While she carries on her duties of directing the school health program and scheduling physical examinations, Miss Miller is, in addition, always on hand to provide efficient treatment in the case of accidents or sickness.

Miss Ellen R. Miller checks her records to see how many cases of flu she had in January.

CAFETERIA STAFF

Second Row: A. Lower, N. Treher, H. Witherow, M. Rebert, N. Herring, D. Tressler, M. Ditzler, J. McCleaf.

"Help! I didn't mean to drop my tray!" Right on hand to aid this distraught student is a member of our loyal custodian staff.

The busy day of our janitors include many duties which begin early in the morning and end as the last light is turned off.

"Don't criticize until you've tasted it." This sign accompanied a chef's delight which was the creation of our cafeteria staff. These ladies have faithfully served meals to the hungry students who storm the cafeteria each day. After the noon time rush, the work of preparing for the next day begins.

your teachers prepare you for the future

Beginning of a hectic day: 8:15 in the principal's office.

Rules! Rules! Rules! Close your books, pass in your homework, define these words, write this equation; these are all commands which are given each day by the students' commanding officers, the faculty.

However, it's not as easy as it sounds. Besides issuing assignments and giving tests, teachers instruct, give extra help after school hours, and take part in extra curricular activities.

After arriving at 8:15 each morning, teachers begin their daily ritual of instruction, facing a new group of eager students each period. At lunch teachers and students adjourn to the cafeteria. A few minutes of solitude in the lounge, more classes, and teachers finish out the school day.

After 3:30 there are make-up tests to be given, projects to sponsor, reports to file, and questions to answer. Finally, the teachers are free to leave the confinements of the school building and go home to grade papers, correct tests and plan lessons. Who said a teacher's life was easy?

seniors remember their busy, wonderful year

Who said it was easy to be a senior? Probably an underclassman who has not as yet experienced the busy, and many times hectic senior life. The 1962 graduates will look back on this school year as one filled with activity—from the magazine sale in September to the unforgettable class trip in May.

Perhaps the largest problem confronting a member of this class was the future life ahead after graduation. Seniors worried about tests, studies and marks, and nervously awaited college board and job application results.

ADVISERS

MISS NANCY KIRK

MR. ELMER SCHRIVER

Aside from the serious senior activities, members of the class found time to participate in sports, school publications, dramatics, musical groups and various other extracurriculars.

Class planned social activities included the Fall Dance, a lively Christmas party, and the spring trip. To raise money, the class sold magazines and sponsored various dances after basketball games. Possibly the most memorable of class parties was the Junior-Senior Spring Prom when the gymnasium was transformed by eager hands into a wonderland.

A dynamic class life, sparked by individual excellence, has caused each member of the Class of 1962 to benefit both mentally and socially from his school career at Gettysburg High.

Varsity Club Pledge Day signifies hard work, candy bars, and demerits to junior initiates.

Forward march!

The junior class under the brilliant command of unofficial class sponsor, Colonel Jacob M. Sheads, took its customary lead in field maneuvers this year.

With a burst of driving energy, the Juniors soundly defeated the Seniors in the fall magazine drive, pocketing approximately one thousand dollars as a result of their perseverance and hard work.

Mid-term found members of the class anxiously awaiting both the arrival of college board results and class rings. Careful plans were being laid out for the spring prom.

After varsity pledge initiation day, during which junior boys carried innumerable stacks of books and picked up countless pieces of waste paper for seniors, the tired initiates were already scheming revenge for next year's batch of boys.

In the early spring the class play gave juniors a chance to exhibit their artistic and dramatic talents.

Excellent planning for the Junior-Senior Spring Prom brought the furious activity of this year's class to a highly entertaining and successful climax.

Tom Collins seems to be pleased with the college boards results which Miss Louise Ramer, guidance counselor, has shown him.

Juniors, Barbara Beard and Sandy Coldsmith, proudly display their shiny new rings to fellow classmates Dick Simpson and Ed Zeigler.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Flamboyant ties, 1890 hair-do's, sneakers and wild checkered vests were set this spring by sophomore ringleaders as THE STYLE of dress for senior boys. Adjustment to senior high life was obviously no great problem for sophomores, now in their first year of senior high school.

Other less imaginative but important activities in which tenth graders participated were dances, plays, the operetta "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow," and various sports. Sophomores also held their share of responsibility in many school organizations.

Among other things, ninth graders this year took a day trip to the Adams County Court House in accordance with their governmental studies; built volcanos, rockets, and grew crystals in Earth Science classes; and for the first time struggled with courses in Guidance and Family Living.

Members of the freshman class decided in the fall what course of study they would follow during their four years at Gettysburg High. They worked diligently in the all-school operetta, in the Spring Night of Music and in the junior high one-act plays.

These lively underclassmen are eagerly awaiting next year when they will join the roll of the senior high school students.

Did you ever ask for the office and be sent to the gym? Late arrivals to class, confusion in the halls, new names and faces, are some of the perils facing the newest members of G.H.S., the eighth graders.

The enthusiasm of Lincoln School overflows the rooms as each pupil strives for recognition in his new and at times confusing role as a high school student.

A new list of activities, and a variety of subjects broaden the curriculum and widen their outlook on school life.

ADVISERS

Miss Mary Hartman, Mr. Charles Lilley.

SEVENTH GRADE

If you could observe the bustling daily life of Lincoln School where the lively seventh graders are housed, you would see that it functions as almost an entirely separate unit from the high school building.

Seventh graders publish their own small but interesting newspaper, "The Lincoln Log." They study in an integrated program of English and Social Studies for half of the school day. The rest of the time is devoted to art, music, math and other classes. This system was designed to aid the unexperienced seventh graders' adjustments to the platoon system of classes upon transferring to the high school building.

In the spring the Lincoln students hold a Eurasian dinner in connection with their social studies program. Foreign dishes and costumes are the main features of the banquet.

the many sides

"What a busy day!" This exclamation may be made by a Gettysburg High School student rushing to an after school meeting, then to a game or dance that evening. In addition to his academic activities, which include homework, research on a term paper, and extra-credit projects are the many and varied extracurriculars.

High on the list of time-consuming activities is school service. Students help their school by serving as hall monitors, student council representatives, and in other capacities. Also important is entertainment at school functions by our singing group,

"The Casuals Four," or by GHS's "actors" and "actresses." Assemblies, Christmas programs, and dances give the student a chance to develop his dramatic talent. Participating and competing in athletics, whether a varsity basketball game, intramurals, or a GAA playoff, allows him to release his built-up energy and teaches him good sportsmanship. If a student accomplishes a high goal, he is honored by his fellow students. The life of a student at Gettysburg High consists of many hours of challenging, interesting, and enjoyable experiences.

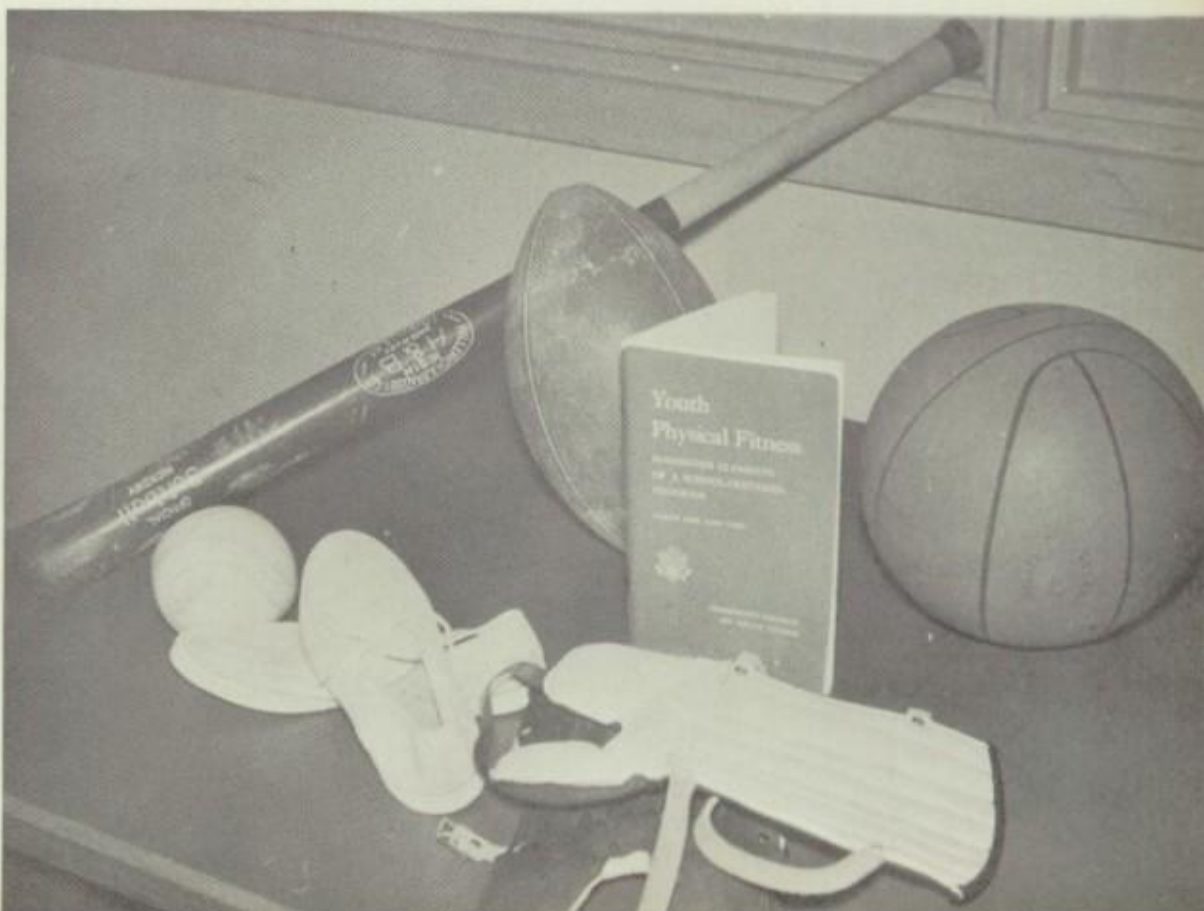

These trophies in the display case are proof of the many honors which a student can receive for outstanding work.

"I did it wrong, I'll have to start all over again!" The student learns by doing. Through practice and patience the student acquires knowledge in many fields, from foreign languages and journalism, to office procedures and printing. Directions must be read as carefully in the home-ec room as in the chemistry lab. The student at Gettysburg High learns through the helpful guidance of his teachers, but he himself must shoulder the responsibility and "tackle the books." Four plans of study are offered at Gettysburg High School; the Academic, the Commercial, the Vocational, and the General courses. For the more advanced students, the College Academic Preparatory course is now available.

"Keep the noise DOWN!" These words may be heard from the capable hall monitors who serve their school at lunch time and between classes. Cadet teachers, preparing for future careers, bravely face the classes in the elementary schools and in Gettysburg High School. Busy teachers are glad to have the commercial students help them. These girls pound the typewriter keys and toil in the office practice room to make copies of tests and to perform other chores the teachers have for them. By delivering absent slips to teachers, students serve their school and at the same time take a leisurely walk through the halls. The officers are elected by the Senior High School and the members by homerooms. To be a member, a high academic average is required. Mrs. Jean Bickel and Mr. David Woods look over last year's "headache" before beginning a new edition of Cannon-Aid.

March 1 deadline! The announcement of these words to the Cannon-Aid staff produced many groans and "Oh, No's." After this shattering news, the layout staff spent many long evenings after school cropping pictures and making attractive page layouts. The feature staff also toiled under the bright lights of the Cannon-Aid room, writing copy and captions. The typing staff could be heard pounding the typewriter keys. The photographer ran through the halls snapping last minute pictures. The advertising staff even managed to be excused from study halls to ask for ads uptown. The sports staff checked facts and figures with the coaches. Because of cooperation among staffs the deadline was met. The final work of the business staff came in the spring, distributing an enjoyable yearbook to the students.

"Maroon and White" reporters check the accuracy of their spelling in the "writer's Bible."

This year the "Maroon and White" attained for the first time an All American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. Accurate, complete, and interesting reporting combined with an energetic staff made this achievement possible.

Within the black print you can find a complete coverage of all sports activities illustrated with exciting pictures. Years later faithful alumni can look back through preserved issues of the "Maroon and White" to compare the number of students on the honor roll, learn the success or failure of the football and basketball teams or determine the leaders in the student body.

high stepping and stirring music:

"Dress to the right . . . lift those knees!" Fresh from band camp at Camp Swatara the Gettysburg Senior High School Band made a snappy appearance at football games and parades during the school year. They participated in Halloween parades, Christmas parades, the Dedication Day exercises at the National Cemetery, and the Memorial Day parade.

Featured in the band this year was the color guard fully attired in civil war uniforms and carrying old muskets and a 35-star flag. Due to favorable response to these uniforms similar ones were purchased for the entire band to be used during the centennial and later for special patriotic occasions.

Also featured in the band front were the majorettes whose lighted baton and pom-pom routines added much to parades, half-time shows, and lively pep rallies.

junior high band's music sparkles

"All right, calm down! Now, give it all you've got! Ready? And 1, and 2 . . ."

Junior high band members displayed new enthusiasm and musical ability under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Hays during his first year at Gettysburg High School.

As did the senior band, they played for several half-time junior high shows, at pep rallies, and the Veteran's Day and Memorial Day parades.

Altogether the marching band consisted of eighty-nine members, of the seventh and eighth grades. This included a band front of ten majorettes and two banner carriers.

This year was highlighted by the spring concert in April, when the concert band played compositions of such composers as Bach, Purcell, Mozart, Rubenstein, Bartok, and an original march composed by Mr. Hays.

the student attains

Competition has contributed greatly to the attaining of honors by Gettysburg High School students. Constant rivalry for honor roll grades, for scholarship and citizenship awards has attributed to the diligent work put forth by students. This year a great interest has been shown in many outside affairs, such as speech contests and agricultural projects. High on the list of Gettysburg's honorable students are those popular girls who are chosen annually to reign as queen of various activities including the Halloween Parade, the Football Hop, and the Junior-Senior Prom. Also rated highly are those boys who participate in sports and have produced many rewards for Gettysburg High School.

Janet White smiles to the crowd as she is announced as Gettysburg's first Halloween Parade Queen.

honors given for talent and hard work

Honoring the outstanding students of scholastic, dramatic, and literary ability Gettysburg High School offers four honor societies for the qualified students. Unlike the various clubs offered to the students to join, the National Honor Society, National Thespians, Mask and Wig, and Quill and Scroll vote in their members according to their ability.

The Mask and Wig and the National Thespians are concerned with dramatics. Credits given for acting and committee work entitle a student membership in the Mask and Wig and National Thespians. Quill and Scroll members are composed of Maroon and White staff heads, typists, and reporters who are voted in by the club. Teachers recommend students whom they think are worthy of membership in the National Honor Society. The list is screened and voted on by the faculty.

Twisting to Chubby Checker's records at dances and listening to our own singing group "The Casuals Four" gives the student a chance to relax and forget the "hard" day spent at school. During the football season, the students had a period of recreation at the pep rallies every Friday of a home game. Led by the cheerleaders, the noisy, cheering students let the football team know that they were behind them. Thanks to the efforts put forth by the cast and committees, the students enjoyed the Senior play. Participating in activities such as these is an important part of school life.

The Maroon and White were led by Captain John Holoka and Co-Captain Jim McCleaf, both making the All-County team and also gaining recognition for All-State in this district. The backfield was comprised of McCleaf at fullback, and shifty halfbacks Dick Utz and Larry Mickley, with Tom Duane calling the signals. The Warrior line was bolstered by such stalwarts as "Chub" Plank, Earl Kump and Ron Doaks, also nominee for All-State from this district.

Although the Youngmen compiled a 1-7-1 record, they scored 97 points, more than any squad in the last seven years.

A true indication of the Warriors' "never-say-die" spirit was shown in their initial contest, which they dropped to powerful Westminster, 18-6. Jim McCleaf streaked 84 yards for the lone Gettysburg tally. In their second game, the Tribe lost a hard-fought 12-0 decision to neighboring Biglerville. The next time out the "Big Red" walloped Bermudian Springs 33-0 for their only victory of the campaign. After dropping three more contests, the Youngmen battled the Thunderbolts of Littlestown to a 25-25 deadlock in the most thrill-packed tilt of the season. Jim McCleaf scored three touchdowns on long runs in this game. The Warriors put up a stiff front before bowing to Waynesboro 23-13 and then were beaten 46-0 by Carlisle in the year's finale.

Young Warriors Manage 4-2 Record

Gettysburg's JV's compiled one of their finest records in years. The junior Warriors managed an impressive 4-2 record for their year's work.

The JV's successfully opened their South Penn Conference play with a nip and tuck 13-7 victory at the expense of Chambersburg.

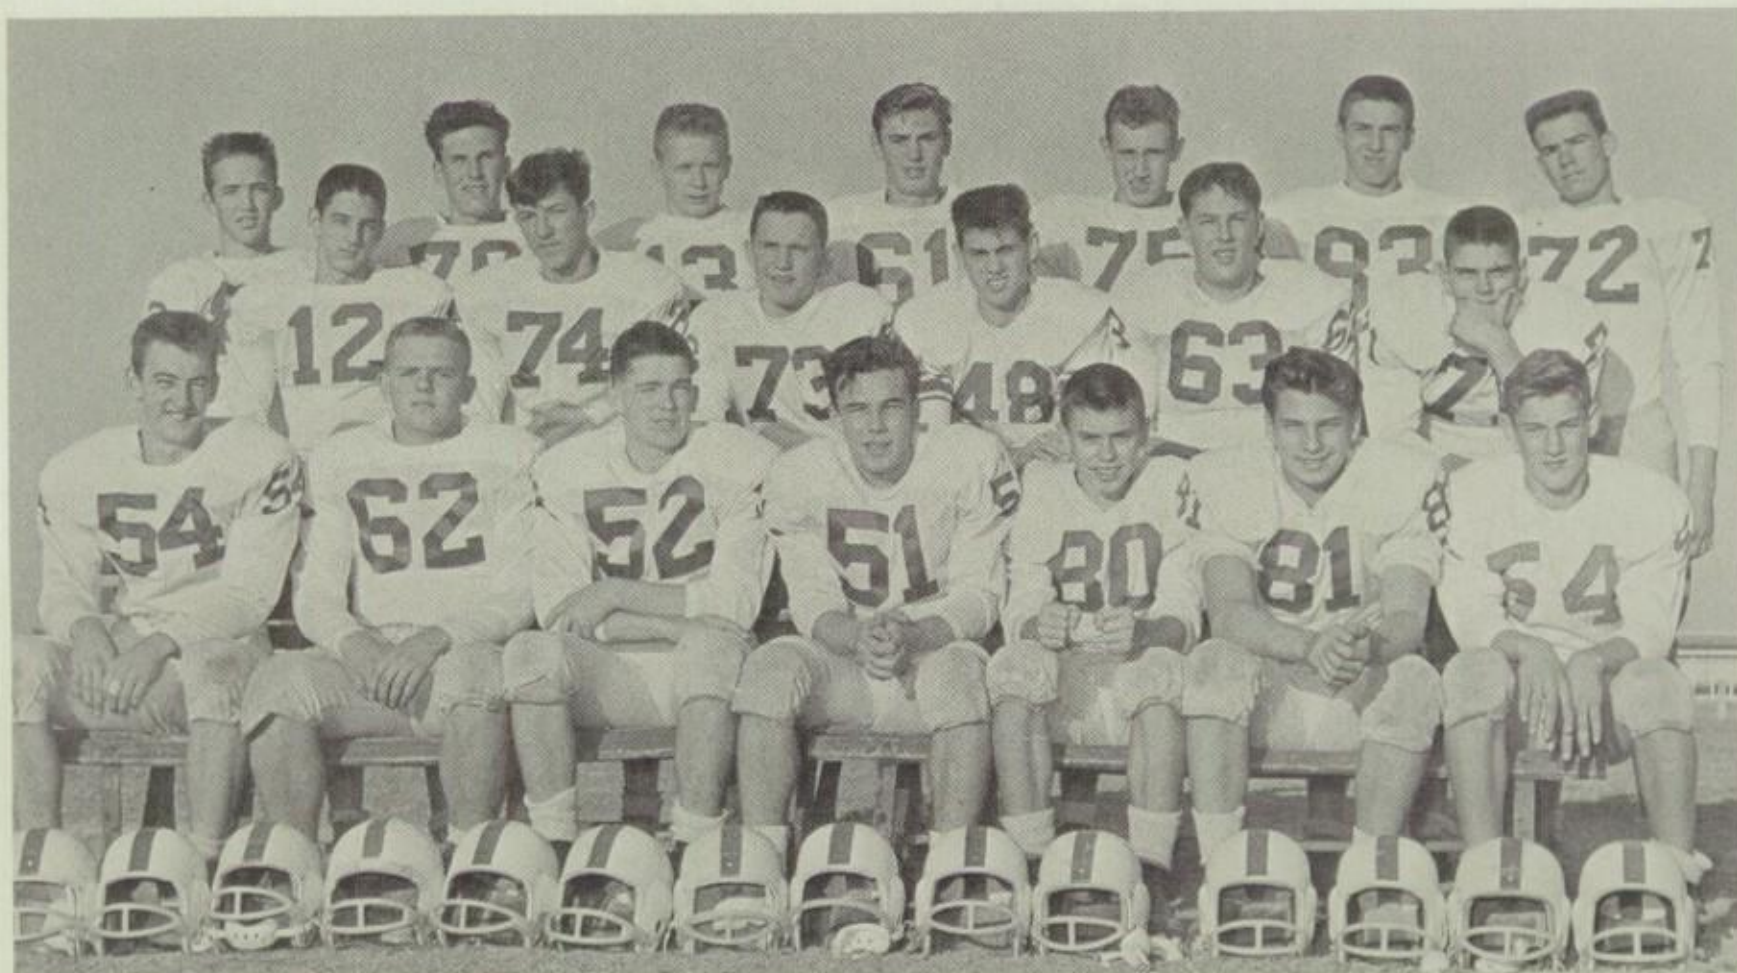

The young Warriors ran into stiffer opposition when they fell to Littlestown 19-6.

A solid defense proved it can be just as valuable as a strong offense when the young Braves won their second game of the season with a thrilling 7-6 victory over Hanover. After a scoreless opening period, quarterback Jim Newman swept end for the touchdown and fullback Ken Kime's plunge for the extra point provided the winning margin of victory.

The victory over Hanover seemed to pave the way for the JV's who showed a strong offensive punch in their next two outings, trouncing Waynesboro 26-7, and running over hapless Boiling Springs 34-6.

The junior Warriors not only did a fine job on offense for the season but held their opponents to 60 points in six outings.

Junior varsity coach, Mr. Charles Lilley, is looking forward to another winning season next year.

Coach Forney

The Gettysburg High School Warriors did little to provide a winning season this year, but in return provided the fans with thrills that will be long remembered in Gettysburg High.

The team was green and inexperienced and surprisingly enough this was the first season in Mr. Forney's coaching career that he did not have a returning letterman.

After being tripped in their first two outings the Warriors met highly rated Westminster on their home floor. The Owls took a commanding 10-point lead into the last period, but behind the screams of the crowd and the hustle they displayed, the Warriors tied up the score with a mere 10 seconds left. At this time a brawl broke out and in the process Dick Crist was fouled. Calmly enough the latter stepped to the line and converted his first of two fouls to give Gettysburg High School one of its most thrilling victories in history.

Ironically, this was the only victory they were to see all season. Losing the next three games by decisive margins, the Warriors met Westminster on the latter's floor only to be handed a 51-50 setback. In their next game the Warriors met the Thundering Herd of Carlisle, who won the South Penn Title and entered the District playoff with an unblemished 22-0 record. The Warriors provided them with their biggest scare of their campaign. Trailing by 15 points entering the last quarter, the Warriors came back with 10 straight points only to see the Herd freeze the ball with over two minutes left.

Being caught in an eight-game losing streak, the Warriors went all out against Delone High only to be outlasted in the final minutes by a much taller club. Jim McCleaf poured in 20 points.

The final game of the season between Biglerville and Gettysburg brought a packed house to the Gettysburg High School gym. The game was nip and tuck going into the final minutes in which Biglerville took a one-point lead. With 26 seconds left, Dick Crist drove in for a last shot and was fouled. At this time the latter sunk both tosses to give the team the lead only to see it wiped out when Bill Sanni duplicated Crist's feat with 4 seconds to go and to give Biglerville at 43-42 victory. Tom Duane, honorary captain, lead his team with 14 points.

In the annual All Star Selection of the Sportscaster's, writers and coaches, Dick Crist was named to the second team having topped his team with 99 points in 8 South Penn games and 195 for the season.

With four returning lettermen in John Longanecker, Bob Crandall, Gary Nelson, and Ed Ziegler, Coach Forney eyes a good season next year as Gettysburg High School enters the Blue Mountain League.

1962 TRACK

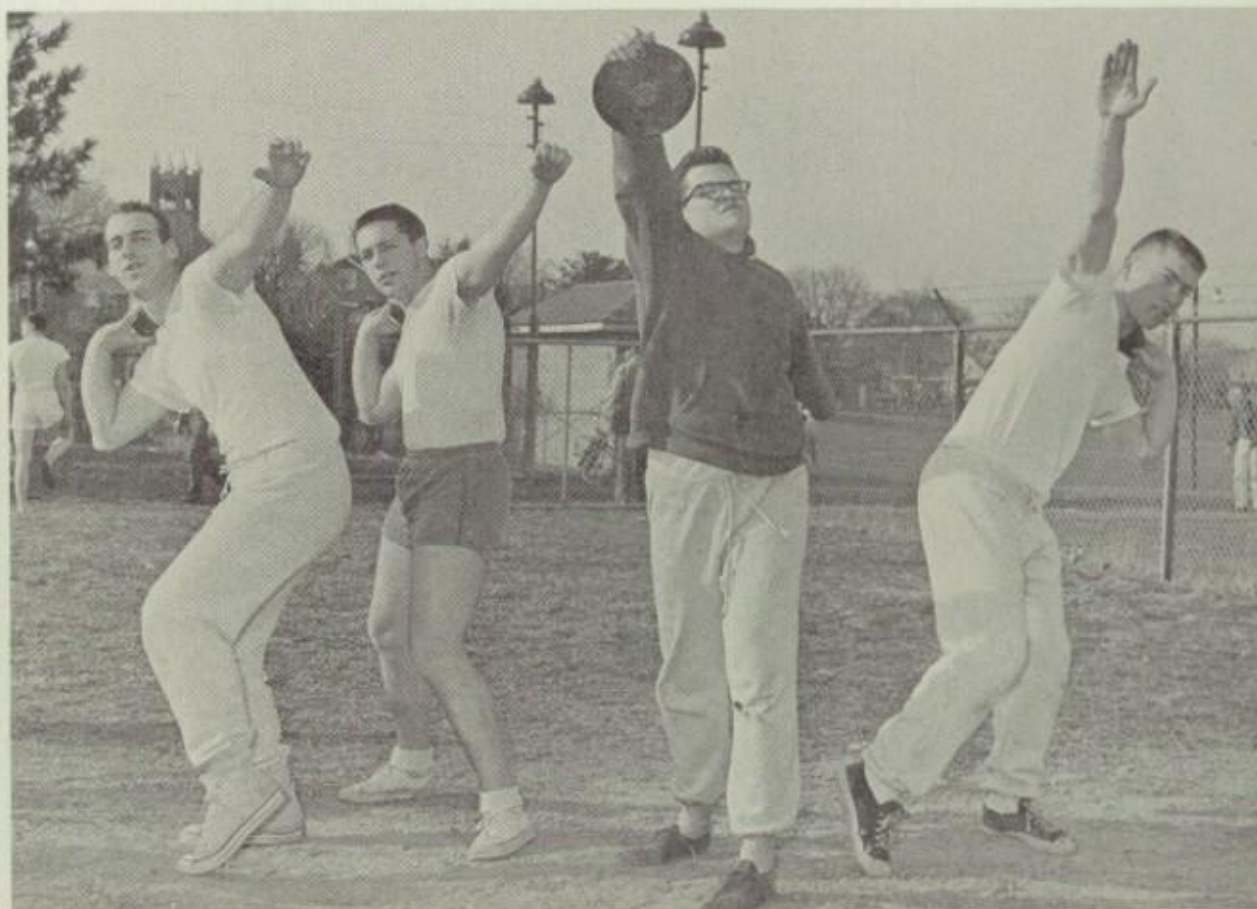

Coach George Forney's cindermen, with hopes of improving their 1961 season with a record of two wins and three losses in dual meets, have only one returning letterman, Jim McCleaf.

Hopeful candidates for the dashes include McCleaf, Philip Redman, and Ron Dettinburn.

In the distance events Jerry Neth, Charles Swope, and Robert Spangler show the greatest prospect thus far.

Going over to the field events, Warren Stouck, Earl Kump, Maynard Stuckey, and Dave Coshun will handle the discus throw and shot-put, while Bill Pinko will heave the javelin. Rounding out the field events are Bill Little and Ken Bigham in the broad jump and high jump with Gerald Cleveland experienced in the pole vault.

W. Stouck, E. Kump, M. Stuckey, and D. Coshun show form in pre-season action.

Coach Young, gives pointers to his infielders in pre-season drills.

Coach Donald Young's hopes for the "62" baseball campaign rest on the experience of five veterans and a promising outlook of new candidates.

Upholding the mound chores are Larry Eckert and Tom Duane with John Holoka catching. A well-balanced infield is headed by lettermen John Longanecker and Tom Collins, aided at first base by Dick Crist and at third base by Conway Bushey. The outfield is without a vet, but prospects showing the greatest initiative are Dennis Breighner, Gary White, Paul Plank, and Gary Nelson.

From this point on, the Youngmen face stiff competition in their twelve game schedule.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

The young Indian Braves got off to a rather poor start this season by suffering a 28 to 0 defeat in the initial game with Chambersburg Faust. The two teams kept the scoring columns on even terms the first half, but the Faust gridders came back strong in the second half and scored 28 points. The final score of this contest endowed each member of the team with the incentive to win. With this in mind, the "Little Warriors" became an outstanding group of players and romped over Waynesboro 35 to 0 in the following game. This was a preview of the type of play to be seen in the forthcoming outings.

But the "Bickel-lads" were not to see another win for quite a while, for in the next three games in the conference, they were unable to obtain the tallies necessary for their opponents' defeat. This was a provocation to these fine young men so that when they returned to the striped field for the last time this season, they downed Hanover 7 to 0.

The play and teamwork exhibited by the "Warriors-to-be" was a preview of an outstanding team of the future in the Senior High.

Coach Schoenborn

Finishing their season with a 5 wins and 7 losses log, Coach Schoenborn's Junior High cagers don't have much to show for their efforts in the columns. The scrappy little Braves finished in fourth place in the South Penn when the final tabulations were made. But, the facts and figures of the newspapers don't tell how the game was played or how hard they practiced. Only the players themselves know that by observing any one of the Junior High games this season, it could readily be seen that the young Warriors were giving it all they had. This, no matter how the statistics read, makes a winning team.

J.V. BASKETBALL

Coach Bickel's battalion ended one of the best Junior High Jayvee seasons it ever had by handing out ten losses to their league opponents while suffering only two themselves. The delightful dribblers seemed to carry the preceding football season onto the hardwood to gather greater glory. The blithe boys put the topper on their scintillating season by sinking Central 42 to 26. The two things necessary for a winning team: (1) Boys with the ability and desire to win, and, (2) a coach who knows how to concentrate these abilities and desires on the weaknesses of the top opponents. These factors were very much in evidence in the Jayvee basketball team this year.

Kit Richardson rips the cords for two in final game of the season.

girls' athletic association: good

Edith Boyer and Ann Ruckelshaus spring after the ball during a lively championship playoff game.

"You get 20 demerits!" A senior GAA member may be heard saying this to an unfortunate sophomore girl who, if she survives the initiation, becomes a member. Hockey in the fall, basketball in the winter, and softball in the spring are enjoyed as classes compete among themselves. The highest honors are the minor "G" and the major "G." To receive them a certain number of points must be earned. A girl gets much satisfaction from being a member of GAA. The opportunity is presented to learn skills in sports, but above all to develop fair play and good sportsmanship. One highly enjoyed aspect of GAA is the chance when you become a senior, to soak some lowly sophomore in the showers!

First Row, left to right: J. Brantner, J. Hoover, L. Cluck, C. McCleaf, A. Eigner, M. Mayer, L. Harbaugh, M. Martin, C. Hinckley, Mrs. Rinehart (adviser).

Third Row: V. Deardorff, J. Jackson, M. Reynolds, M. Ayre, S. Crist, J. Thompson, B. Arnsberger, D. Folkenroth, L. Young.

Fourth Row: S. Markley, B. Vannoy, K. Dick, P. Hess, B. Wright, S. Jackson, B. Baker, M. Walhay, M. Hawn.

Fifth Row: K. Stansbury, P. Shue, M. Ecker, N. Rosenberger, H. Hull, C. Stoner, L. Cockle, J. Bowers, D. Kargas.

sportsmanship, skills in sports

Orders to these sophomore initiates from the upperclassmen were these among others: wear one shoe and one boot, make up only one side of your face, and wear a wild apron!

SENIOR HIGH CHEERLEADERS

Second Row: A. Ruckelshaus, J. Kunkel, B. Smith.*

"All for Gettysburg stand up and holler!" The words of this fight yell echo through the bleachers under the leadership of the cheerleaders. To promote school spirit, the cheerleaders do anything from arousing enthusiasm at pep rallies to leading the band down the football field. The duty of the cheerleaders is not only to make sure the spectators leave the game unable to talk but also to encourage good sportsmanship.

The cheerleaders wildly applaud "our boys" as they lead a cheer in honor of those on the basketball team who received varsity letters.

g-burg stand up and holler!!

Second Row: W. Kuykendall, V. Deardorff, J. Thompson.*

Cheerleaders put the stripes on the candy cane for the "Peppermint Ball," held to raise money for their new uniforms.

Mrs. Kenneth Reinhart, adviser, and Judy Kunkel, head cheerleader, look over possible pep rally skits.

Educated People Save

It is told that Indians of Paraguay plowed all day with oxen and then killed the oxen for supper. The primitive mind gave no thought to the morrow. The habit of saving is the mark of the educated man and woman. Also, it is one of the privileges enjoyed in a free America.

Best of luck to a real nice classmate.
I'm looking forward and hoping that I'll see you next year in this section

Joe Best of luck in your future years at J.H.S. Don't forget Latin Class and A. B. H. See you next year?

Good luck in anything hard over you may try, work keeps physically the summer and keeps physically fit for next year tests.

Joe,
Good luck to a swell guy.
Remembered the fun we had
in band and homeroom.
Don't forget district band.
Keep working hard on the clarinet and your schoolwork. See you next year
as well as in the band
this summer.

Best of luck
to a real sweet guy in your future years at H.H.S. (at the rate
this school is going, you'll need it!) Always remember the fun we've had in this — including band. — the grand homes at Inyoats — how Joanni got her horns miled-up in R.R. and that swanky (?) cafeteria where we ate. But despite all our feelings about not making it, we did it. Then we really had a ball — at Central. Never forget that banquet and all the crazy things we all did. Remember also poor Ronnie (how could we forget him) especially at Inyoats and band camp.
Just remember that you get nowhere in this world unless you work for it; so set your goal high, and I know you'll make it. Keep looking that clarinet and you'll go far.

I hope of luck to the most respected boy
in the sophomore class.
I hope the coming year
are as great as this year has been. But sure to remember those few practices we had for I guess that next year I'll be seeing you in the cast that will probably put play. At an audience I'm sure you will
